- c. When none of the words in the signature are legible, the printed or typed name shall govern.

- e. When the spelling of any word in a legible signature and the spelling of the corresponding word in the typed or printed name is at variance, and the variance would cause the entries to be made at different places in the index, then the instrument shall be indexed under both spellings.
- f. When a reasonable interpretation of an illegible word in a signature is at variance with the corresponding word in a typed or printed name, and the variance would cause the entries to be made at different places in the index, then the instrument shall be indexed in both places.

3.02 Additional Name References.

The location of an entry in the real property index shall be determined by the following hierarchical sorting order:

- a. Human Name Section:
 1. Last name or surname ascending alphabetically.
 2. Given names ascending alphabetically.
 3. Trustee or other designated status.
 4. Date - ascending.

- b. Non-Human Section:
 1. All words or abbreviated words in the name ascending alphabetically.

All documents being conveyed by a Trustee, Commissioner and/or Commissioners, Agent, Attorneys-in-Fact, or the like shall be indexed in the name of the parties for whom the designated trustee and the like is acting as well as in the name of the trustee or other designated status. The trustee or other designated status shall be a separate index field and shall be printed in the index as an extension of the last given name of a human name entry and an extension of the non-human name in a business or corporate entry of the trustee or other designated status (See Appendix for suggested abbreviation codes for trustee and other designated status). A slash [/], comma (,), hyphen (-), or other clear identifier shall separate the trustee or other designated status from the last given name. Designated status may be considered a part of non-human names in the Directory of Names.

Example:

John L. Smith and Jane Ann Smith, husband and wife

SMITH IVAN A
SMITH JANE ANN	JOHN L
SMITH JOHN L	JANE ANN
SMITH JOHN T

- a. In order to print the spouse's given name(s) with the indexed party name, the document must clearly state that the male and female document signers are husband and wife. The fact that a male document signer and a female document signer have the same surname is not, in itself, a determination that they are husband and wife.

Example:

SMITH IVAN A
SMITH JANE ANN	JOHN L [Clear from document
SMITH JOHN L	JANE ANN that they are
SMITH JOHN T	husband and wife]

SMITH IVAN A

SMITH JOHN L	document if they
SMITH JOHN T	are husband and wife]

BROWN	HELEN O
BROWN	JANE ANN SMITH
BROWN	LEON

SMITH JOHN L	JANE ANN
SMITH JOHN T
SMITH IVAN A		(Wife not indexed)
SMITH JOHN L	JANE ANN	INCORRECT
SMITH JOHN T

- d. In the index, the spouse's given name(s) shall be considered as a separate field and shall not be a part of or an extension of the surname/given name of the indexed party. Only the indexed party name (surname and given name(s)) shall be used for alphabetizing - the printed spouse's given name(s) shall not be used for alphabetizing.

Example:

John Brown and Mary A. Brown, husband and wife

BROWN HARVEY G
BROWN JOHN	MARY A
BROWN JOHN MARVIN
BROWN KIRK A
BROWN HARVEY G
BROWN JOHN MARVIN
BROWN JOHN	MARY A	INCORRECT
BROWN KIRK A		(indexed using wife's name)

- e. If the wife's given name(s) is printed with the indexed name of the husband, the husband's given name(s) must be printed with the indexed name of the wife; similarly, if the husband's given name(s) is printed with the indexed name of the wife, the wife's given name(s) must be printed with the indexed name of the husband.

Example:

- f. If the spouse's given name(s) is printed with the indexed party name, a method must be used to separate the spouse's given name(s) from the indexed name. Such a method may be adding spaces between the given name(s) of the indexed party name and the spouse's name, printing the spouse's given name(s) indented and on a separate line, etc.

Example:

John L. Smith and Jane Ann Smith, husband and wife

 SMITH JOHN T
OR
 SMITH IVAN A
 SMITH JANE ANN

- h. Description - Description contains a brief identification or description of the property. Depending on the type of document, this description can describe a property, be a reference to a book/page, be a local property tax number, or state the intent of the document. When describing a property, the description is not a full and legal description of the property, but is used only for document identification purposes.
- i. PIN - The parcel identifier number (PIN) is a unique parcel identifier and is constructed from the North Carolina State Plane Coordinates of the visual center of the parcel. The PIN is four digits followed by a dash (-), two digits followed by a dash (-), and four digits. In the case of condominiums, townhouses or other cases of diverse ownership on a parcel, the PIN may use a decimal at the end of the PIN with three digits to the right of the decimal (Technical Specifications for Base, Cadastral and Digital Mapping available from the North Carolina Land Records Management Program contains the method of construction of the PIN as well as additional information about the PIN). If the register of deeds office does not use the PIN system, the PIN column may be omitted as an index heading; however, space shall remain in the computerized indexing system for the addition of the PIN system at a later time.

Appendix "E"

Minimum Data Entry Edits For Human Names

Compound Human Surnames

The system should prompt indexers with an error message when a hyphen is detected in a human surname.

Human Surnames With Blank Spaces

Indexers should be required to confirm that a name is a compound surname when the system detects a blank space in a human surname. If the indexer tells the system that the name is a compound surname it should be indexed with the space. If the indexer tells the system that the surname is not a compound surname, the space could be dropped automatically or the operator could remove the space before the name is accepted as a valid entry.

Punctuation in Human Names

The system should prompt indexers to remove periods, commas, and apostrophes from human names.

Minimum Data Entry Edits for Non-Human Names

- 1) The system should prompt indexers to remove periods from non-human names.
- 2) The system should prompt indexers to remove apostrophes.
- 3) The system should prompt indexers to remove commas.
- 4) The system should prompt indexers to remove dashes and hyphens.
- 5) The system should display a caution message to indexers when a slash is detected in a non-human name. Indexers must be able to override this edit because slashes are permitted in fractions.
- 6) The system should prompt the indexer when a non-human name contains two single characters that are separated by a space. This is a caution message and may be overridden by indexers.

Examples:

A & E	Error Message
N C	Error Message
U S A	Error Message
R L Johnson Co	Error Message

- 7) The system should prompt indexers when a symbol is the first character in a non-human name. The prompt should remind indexers to also index names that begin with symbols in the special symbol set out.
- 8) The system should prompt indexers when United States, United States of America, North Carolina, or N. Carolina has not been abbreviated. The system should prompt indexers to abbreviate United States as US, United States of America as USA, North Carolina as NC, and N. Carolina as NC.

Note:

The indexing standards specify that an indexed party's designated status must be stored in a separate field in the database. The required edits do not prohibit the use of commas, dashes, or slashes to indicate designated status; however, automated indexing systems that use these characters to identify the designated status for an indexed party must also contain the required edits.

Recommended On-Line Inquiry Prompts/Edits for Researchers

Prompts and edits are recommended for on-line inquiry. These edits should be designed to help researchers remember the indexing rules when terminals are used to research consolidated real property data that was indexed according to the new standards.
